To our Patrons in N. C.

A New Year's Greeting to the Planters,
BY THE
Planter's Warehouse,
DANVILLE, VA.

JAMES H. NEAL & CO., Proprietors.

A happy, prosperous New Year to all of you! We beg to call your attention to the fact that we have since last season added to our Warehouse a brick addition of hundred and twenty ft., making our House one of the largest in the South, and the only one in the South with a crane, with an eye-bolter, facilitating the unloading and weighing of Tobacco.

In addition to this, looking to the comfort of Planters who occasionally have to encounter all kinds of weather when they market their Tobacco, we have fitted up our Warehouse (which by the way is the largest in our place), with Beds & Bedding which is kept clean at all times. We also have a Cooking stove and cook to render you facilities in that line. We also have a fire, Well of Water, in our yard, surrounded by 50 good stables, most of which have locks and keys, and last but not least the best Auctioneer in the State and the good will of all the buyers.

DENTAL NOTICE!

Dr. D. A. ROBERTSON,
WOULD respectfully inform the citizens of Orange county for their liberal patronage for the last 13 years.

He can always be found at his Office opposite Dr. E. Strickland's, except when professionally absent.

He will visit Chapel Hill the first and third Mondays in each month. Feb. 18

HICKEY & SULETTE,
Sept. 1870. Danville, Va.

TO THE LADIES—Thousands of American ladies suffer and die every year from diseases peculiar to their sex; in fact, it is extremely rare at the present day to find a female who is entirely free from some one or the other of the many physical afflictions peculiar to womanhood. Very many females go on from year to year without help, simply because they do not know to whom to apply for relief for their various troubles, and many of these diseases in their midst is good evidence to them that the "common treatment" is not successful. In consequence of the numerous applications made to me for relief, I have long since been induced to make female diseases and their best method of cure, a "SPECIALTY," and I will therefore say to those suffering from any disease of the sex, whether it be a slight derangement or irregularity, (which is often followed by a "decline," or any of the worse or more painful forms of disease, that my remedies are SAFE, PLEASANT and EFFECTUAL, and are prepared in accordance with Nature's laws in regulating health. I have cured hundreds whom I have never seen, and who only obtained their medicines after having sent me a Plain description of their cases, enclosing a few symptoms PLAINLY and concisely "in Dollars" for medicine and advice to Dr. J. J. LAWRENCE, Wilson, N. C.

There is a FRESH supply of Coffee, Sugar, Tea, Spices, Raisins, Currants, Apples, Citrus Fruits, Stuffs, Cheeses, Candles, Oranges, Cotton Yarns, Sheetings, Table and Staple Dry Goods, cheap for cash, at WILSON'S, where you can have your Produce sold for good prices and quick returns made. ## GREAT WESTERN STAG EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Rules and Regulations for the Exclusive Use and Guidance of the Association in their Grand Excursion from the Valley of Squidunk to Foster Mountain.

—On account of the extreme delicacy of the matured Western editors, no female quill-driver will be invited. The attendance of other ladies is vehemently requested. The "Dora" type preferred. Michigan editors will sit on the female committee.

—Publishers are cordially invited, so much on account of their habit of spandielics, for the Squidunk Committee spur-r-rs the thought, but because their solid presence will give a tone to our Pegasus. [Pegasus! ha! ha!]

—Publishers will be furnished with a separate compartment, with gimlet holes, and pieces of smoked glass through which to observe the high old antics of the Squidunk Committee and other editorial roosters.

—Children in arms and dogs will not be admitted. Maine editors will sit on dogs and children.

—Idiot and all singers of sensational songs will be rigorously excluded by the New Jersey Editorial Committee.

—Stories must have their limitations, both as to length and quality—special quality. Story Quality Committee—The Quakerstown delegation of editors.

—Punsters will be hung to first telegraph posts.

—So will all retailers of crab, dog, fish and learned oyster stories.

—Champion baby editors, of no matter what State, rigorously excluded.

1. The Ass will leave Squidunk by the half-past 10 train on Monday, June 5th. Clear or not clear, see will. Editors having watches will sit in the first car.

2. All editors will furnish their own tobacco, tin cup and spoon, spittoon and GIN. The latter need not be furnished until arrival at the half-way house, after which the stimulating fluid will be supplied from the Lame, Halt and Blind Club fund of the Indiana editors.

3. Editors from Illinois will wear green rosettes, and will take particular note of each man's flask, bottle, demijohn, keg, barrel or cask, (as the case may be,) and every editor having in his possession anything under full government proof, will be sentenced to read his last leader and a yard of Horace Greeley's manuscript.

4. The expenses for the excursion may be paid in anything except piano due-bills, patent soap, bitters or patent rheumatic mixtures. A special arrangement has been made with the railroad superintendent to take almost any thing else—pups of both sexes and unwashed kittens alone excepted.

5. With a view to the encouragement of Kansas editors, card playing will be allowed for one hour per diem, at strictly one cent ante. But the Squidunk Committee fearfully protest against all betting, believing that such things lead men by the nose to the penitentiary, to the inordinate uses of rum, and to unfortunate and deplorable family jars.

6. In order to secure perfect impartiality, credentials will be examined by the well known constable of Squidunk County, who will also accompany the expedition, to take care of the material, the halt and the blind [drunk] and keep order generally.

7. Vermont editors (if pious) will form the note Pie Committee, and all requisitions for the article should be made through them.

8. The first man who shall, in his speech, use the expressions, "Journalistic Junket," "Newspaper Pie Pie," "Editorial Excursion," "Ink-Silencers' Ink-ur-sion," or "Quill-Drivers' Tranquillizers," or shall take for his subject "The Mission of Journalism," "The Future of the Press," "The Duties of Editors," "The Moral Aspects of the Printing Press," or the "Domestic and Religious Obligations of Printers," will receive a home ticket and a practical and stern reminder in the brain region from cask-bellied editor present.

9. No one will be allowed to tell an exceptional story, except to a select and limited circle of friends, and then only after having properly notified the Pres. of the Ass., or offered an exceptional cigar, except to a rival in the same county.

10. Silk hats, carduroys, plush coats, claw-hammers, restaurant ties, patent-leathers, kids and frills will not be permitted.

11. Ditto overalls, wide-awakes, Dundermays, Raglans and cow-hides.

12. B. Snashos, Mint J's Sherry C's, G. Slings, Milk P's, E. Noggs and G-n and M-k will be allowed only under protest.

There will be no other limitations whatever as to dress, except in cases of gross and stupendous violations of propriety, such as the exposure of light fabric in uncalled-for places, or the unfortunate button accidents so prevalent among the craft. N. B.—Accidents, if genuine, will be allowed for, but Squidunk strenuously admonishes all possible sartorial dignity, despite the poverty of the "cloth."

13. The Squidunk Committee wish it understood once for all, that they deeply and habitually deplore the growing and

and they wish it distinctly understood that they allow the slayer of the strong in abundance on this occasion only, because that, having noticed the extremely unfortunate operation of the Maine Liquor Law, they believe that editors can obtain only when free from all "lunker," (so to speak), and have the fiery thunder juice near at hand. Temperance in all things is what is recommended by Squidunk. Squidunk will be sure to go to the top of the tree, and the old spirit of morality breathes through its leaders and nestles in its paragraphs.

14. All liquor will be carefully stored away by the Committee on Special Morality (composed of New York Editors) in the two baggage cars provided by the committee. Straw for packing will be furnished by Maine Editors, who will carefully sample the packages.

15. Personal cleanliness is strongly recommended. A towel, comb and brush will accompany each train.

16. Should any ladies be present they will be under the special escort of the Squidunk Committee, and on entering a tunnel, all Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago and Milwaukee editors will be required to leave the car, and New York men will be placed upon their dignity and good behavior. Squidunk asks, with heartfelt earnestness, that ermine and three-story chignons be left at home.

17. All political discussions and arguments of female suffrage must be avoided. We must not tilt on that. None of that ilk will be permitted unless properly caged, ironed and gagged.

18. The question of advertising will be considered with the usual wisdom, discrimination and practical knowledge which has always marked the deliberations of that august (or June) body, the Squidunk Editorial Ass.

19. We must have one dollar a line each insertion. [We must not be weak, friends, here, be not weak. We beg, be weak not.]

20. But sirups may be taken at half price.

21. While those having children may deduct a small discount of 50 per cent. for soothing sirups.

22. But on no account must a larger discount than 70 per cent be made on "Washes," even though we may need them for our own use. Honor, gentlemen, honor and integrity above all. The Squidunk Committee admonishes you to be firm.

23. Sirup of Rubarb, squills, cock-roach mixtures, love powders and capsules may be taken at a reduction of 80 per cent, from card rates, if for editorial use.

24. But on no account must any one in this Ass. take bachelors, sanaparilla, tooth preparations, or patent medicines in general, at a less discount than 90 per cent.

25. Bitters, of course, will be gratis.

26. Local advertising will be accepted at exact printed rates. We must protect home institutions.

27. Advertising Agencies, when reliable will receive their regular rates of 25 per cent, and should be thankful to the Squidunk Committee.

28. Traveling agents will be treated with the greatest respect, and proprietors of newspapers should show them the greatest hospitality. Think of the poor fellows away from home, who come to us to throw into our hands their advertising patronage. Can we do less, after throwing off our usual small discounts, than to accept their offers of half price, and throw them in a few editorial notices of twenty lines gratis?

29. Complimentary will not be given to any editor who agrees to pay more than $200 cash for a $250 piano, after having advertised the company's instruments, 1 cent, 1 year.

30. In regard to the great question of subscription, let us firmly adhere to the principle of cash—wherever we can get it. Fence rails, empty oyster kegs and shoe boxes must not be received. Butter and live stock will do well enough, if in passable condition.

IN CONCLUSION.

31. Squidunk will protest against beats.

32. Washington editors will not be received, on account of their poverty and our moral scruples.

33. R. I. editors will see that the "cloth" is treated with respect, when not in too dilapidated condition.

34. Massachusetts men will sedulously exclude colored gentlemen of African descent.

35. New Yorkers will enforce the gin law.

36. Connecticut editors will keep their noses in close proximity to the kitchen.

37. Squidunk will see each man home in safety, having provided a number of patent elasticators, made especially for the use of editors, and provided with writing materials and a sponge.

38. Boston editors will superintend the music, which will be furnished by the Boston Boethoven Brass Belly-Band Bassoons. SQUIDUNK EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY.

The Speakers will be:
1. (Haud) Organs of the Press (6x10)—T. C. Record Evans.

2. Lost Hearts, or Turquoise Overture—Windmill Phillips.

3. Our Dumb Animals vs. Our Speakers—Dr. Bergh.

4. The Tweed Hospital—Editor Scottish American.

5. Advantage of Advertising in ten Papers—Horse Dood.

6. Astronomical Babies, or the Milky Way—Tea Tilton.

7. Waste Basket Poetics—W. C. Bryant.

8. The Wind Theory—Bellowa.

9. Wonderful Escapes, or the Chap Out—Cupid.

10. Darwinism and the Digger Indians—Dana.

11. The Female of the Stump, or Lady Smokers—By the Scratcher of Chappagua.

MUSIC AND TOASTS.
By L. H. Cull, Cincinnati—"To Editors"—The Times we Chronicle.

By R. C. Dunham, Boston, (after Theo. Parker, slightly altered):
"Dimes and dollars, dollars and dimes,
A man is a man who reads the Times."
Music—Boethoven's 177th Symphony.

By J. K. Redpath, Boston Advertiser—"The Ladies,"
"Not I, but my wife and be a miser?
Not I, but the daily Advertiser
I'd go to the Common and see the scenery,
And then take her to Gilson's beanyery."

By the younger Barnhardt (of lots of papers)—"The Press,"
For time I am pressed, but don't care,
And by all my new papers I'm pressed:
But to be pressed and caressed by the fair
I like by all odds the best.

So give me the Press for money,
And give me a wife of the West;
From one I will have all the honey,
From the other I'll grab all the rest.

By A. J. Atkins, of Milwaukee-Printer, I started as a devil
And swept the office floor;
But I kept my young head level,
And I studied more and more.

One day I set a stickful,
And found myself a "jour."
So I took my breeches in my hand
And made a lively stir.

I struck the old Wisconsin—
Good luck did me betide,
I made right up and patented
And covered my "outside."

But I cut another caper,
For for more success I tried;
For while I filled my paper,
I filled my own "inside," etc.

By T. C. Evans, the hired Advertising Agent of Boston—"Myself,"
My name is T. C. Evans,
And I'm fresh from the old Hub,
Where 'tis vain to ask the Heavens
To manna send for grub.

We have to work down there, my friends
We have to work like thunder—
And everything is at "loose ends,"
If we make but one bad blunder,
I did it, I'm going West;
The Record broke my back,
A little wood cut took my all—
I've come down to a "stump" track."

But if you want a type case,
Of pattern new and large,
Come, oh come, to old T. C.
And buy at moderate charge.

So—
I've forgotten the rest.
Music by the full Boethoven Brass Belly-Band Bassoons of Boston. Fire Works.

THE END.
PEANUT JONES.

ANDY JOHNSON INTERVIEWED.

He tells what He Thinks of Vallandigham's Platform, Jeff. Davis's Speeches, and of Grant, Sherman, and Hancock.

A Knoxville letter in the Cincinnati Commercial says:
The question was asked of Mr. Johnson what he thought of the Vallandigham departure.

"I haven't read the entire platform," replied he, "but from what I hear of it, there are some sensible points in it. But we must not depart too much. So to speak there is as much danger in getting too far away as staying too near. There are middle-grounds which it is the best policy to occupy. The trouble is that some of our party want to accept too much, and others don't want to accept anything. It should not be the policy of the Democracy to threaten to use force against the reconstruction acts, or against the recent amendments. There is a lawful and constitution remedy for every ill. Our party is a party of peace, of law, of order. We want no violent measures. In my opinion the letter of Frank Blair to Broadhead at the eve of the last presidential campaign did a great deal of harm. Why? Because it was so written as to be construed into a threat that in case the Democracy came to power they would use force against the reconstruction acts. Now, we should not threaten force, nor anything like it. There is a peaceable remedy, and that remedy is in convincing the people that the last two amendments to the Constitution and the reconstruction acts are wrong. It is within the province of the people to alter these things if they will. The true policy is to accept all these things as accomplished facts, but at the same time leave ourselves free to hereafter urge their abrogation at the bar of reason and justice. I have always had great faith in the good sense and intelligence of the American people. We must appeal to them to remedy these evils, but to do it in a lawful and constitutional way. Another amendment can be adopted that will do away with the evils of the last two. I have no faith in a remedy through the courts. It must be done at the bar of the people. Therefore I look for a remedy in the future, and I am not going to say, and no other Democrat should say, that he accepts the reconstruction measures and amendments as finalities, and that no attempt will be made in the future to get rid of them in a lawful and peaceable manner. We should not commit ourselves to any such absurd doctrine. We should boldly proclaim that we accept these amendments and acts as the law of the land now, but that we will hereafter use every honorable means to convince the people that they should be abrogated and repealed. If the people will not do it, then of course it cannot be done. But for us to say that we will forever close our lips against these inequities is d-d nonsense."

I asked Mr. Johnson what he thought of Gen. Sherman as a Democratic nominee for the Presidency.

"Sherman," said he, "is a smart man and a shrewd man. There is no doubt but what he is looking forward to the Presidency, and if he can't get it from one party he intends to from another. He is not very particular about parties. In course of time he expects to be President, but he is in no particular hurry about it. His chief aim now is not to lose his popularity, and to be ready when the golden moment comes. He is a military man, and don't care much about parties. He is a good deal as Grant was after the close of the war. That little fellow had quite a notion of going with the Democracy for a while."

"He was formerly a Democrat, was he not?"

"No, he wasn't anything. He didn't have sense enough. He has got no head of his own. Sherman is as much smarter man than he as you can imagine. Frequently they have both come in to see me on business. Grant always stood back and let Sherman do the talking. The little fellow felt his inferiority, took a back seat, and let Sherman transact the business. Sherman is a man, while Grant is nothing. Yes, sir, he is just nothing."

"But the Republicans will be apt to nominate him, don't you think?"

"Appearances indicate that they will."

"They have got him and seem inclined to hold on to him."

"No," replied Mr. Johnson; "he has got them. They can't get rid of him. He is in, and intends to remain in. He has got the petrograph and that infamous kuklux bill to aid him. That kuklux law is a damnable infamy. Twenty years ago it would have shocked the American people like electricity."

HANCOCK FOR PRESIDENT.

"You think, Mr. Johnson, that there is no prospect that the Democracy will take Sherman?"

"No, they will not be apt to take him. Generally speaking, I am opposed to a military man on the ticket, but if it is necessary that we have one, why not take General Hancock? He is a soldier, a statesman, a scholar, and a gentleman. He is a noble specimen of a man every way you take him, physically or mentally. There is no comparison between Grant and him. Grant is no man; he is nothing."

"It seems to me, Mr. Johnson, that the Democracy have a golden opportunity to win next year if they will not sensibly."

"Yes, so they have, as you say, if they act sensibly. But will they? There are men in the South, especially, who are continually committing blunders. Now, look at the speech of Jeff. Davis, recently made at Augusta, in which he talks about the lost cause and all such foolishness. That will be trumpeted all over the north, to frighten men away from the Democratic party. I have no doubt but what his Selma speech contributed much towards our defeat in Connecticut."

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

We learn that a very distressing accident occurred about two weeks since on Rock Mountain in Wilkes county, by which a Mrs. Atkins lost her life and her husband was severely injured. A party of ladies and gentlemen were on an excursion to the mountain and were passing along a very dangerous place—a barren rocky declivity which was worn smooth by the water, and terminated in about 200 yards in a precipice, some two hundred and fifty feet high. As the party were passing along the edge of this place, Mr. Atkins was holding his wife by the hand, and in stepping over a wet place his foot slipped and he fell. His wife held on to his hand and endeavored to assist him to rise, but the inclination was so great and the rock so smooth that he could get no hold, but his wife with a heroic devotion gathered him with both hands and sat down on the rock in the vain endeavor to render assistance, but both of them gradually slipped down the smooth face of the rock, each moment going faster and faster until they had gone quite two hundred yards, where they took the fearful plunge over the precipice, which is said to be fully 250 feet high, where they were picked up by their friends. Mrs. Atkins was terribly mangled—both legs broken and her skull fractured in several places, and life entirely extinct, but strange to say, Mr. Atkins was conscious, and had no bones broken, but was seriously bruised, and is now rapidly recovering from his injuries. Mr. Atkins says he lost his consciousness before he went over the precipice. Mrs. Atkins was a daughter of Mr. Franklin Wilcox, of Guilford county, and had been married about one year.—Wes. The Raleigh and Gaston Railroad has declared a dividend of six per cent. Billy Smith of the central road has been doing that! In these many years. Smith beats them all railroading.

Seth Carpenter of Newbern while on his way in the country was fired at from the bushes and a load of buckshot put in his right arm, and head. The assassin has been jailed. Mr. C. is not dangerous.

Peter Tice of Davidson threw himself under the cog wheel of the Howard Mill on Abbott's creek and made a mummy looking corpse out of himself. Nobody took any pleasure in looking at him.

Mr. Henry Riddick, a venerable citizen of Oxford, lately made a pilgrimage to the grave of his wife in Suffolk (Va.) and has returned home to await the soft shod messenger. He is 74 years old.

Bro. Yates of the Democrat is "occasionally called 'fishy' by some fool or vicious enemy." We wouldn't give a cent, brother Yates, for an editor who doesn't "occasionally" have these bugs to buzz him.

Two Memphis editors have been fighting mad at each other and to keep off "a meeting" they eat their lunch in their rooms and when they want a drink go for it disguised so that nobody can know them.

A Polecat creek man in Randolph county drank three pints of butter milk and one pint of dried peach juice. He had been sick. His remains are interred nigh the murmuring Polecat.

A big pumpkin was once sent to the venerable Mr. Hearst—the former editor of this paper—from Big Creek by express. And marked on it was: "To the editor in Hillsboro who runs a paper next best to the Old Testament." The name of the sender was never known.

A brakeman on a freight train in Ohio fell off and had his legs covered on the track. Hearing the mail train approach and unable to get out of the way he stabbed himself dead rather than be run over a second time.

The Raleigh Telegram says that it and the Robesonian are the only papers in this State that repudiate the Vallandigham platform. We beg, most respectfully, to ask if the Telegram can give us a better National platform—one on which the North as well as the South can stand? If the South wants to win, it is important to secure the co-operation of the Conservative or Democratic party of the North. Without this co-operation, we might as well make up our minds to give our necks to the Radical yoke until the crack of doom. The Vallandigham platform, in our humble opinion, is the only platform on which the North and South can stand and pull together—the only one that can win. If any man can chalk out a better one, why, out with it, and let us see it. It must not, however, be a platform adapted to the exigency of Wake County or Robeson county or to North Carolina, alone. It must be sufficiently National to take in the whole Union.

ANDY JOHNSON. We were never one of Andy Johnson's political admirers. Andy used to be a very great demagogue—but not more so than many other men. When Andy assumed the Presidency, he sided with the Radical party, but he soon discovered his mistake and cut loose from them. For this the Rads impeached him, but failed to convict. A memorable event in Andy's Administration is that in which he proved Gen. Grant a base liar! The proof was clear, positive and irrefragable. But it didn't matter; the lie only lifted Ulysses coat-tail to walk into the Presidency!

As little, however, as we admire the antecedents of Andy, we accord him sound sense. His views on the situation (which we publish on the 1st page,) assimilate in a measure with our own. We remark that the freedom of the negro is a fixed fact for all time to come. Forever let him remain free. But we cannot lose sight of another fact that this was and should be, a white man's Government. The North, in order to humble and degrade the South, mixed in the black element and required the South to accept it. It was done, and the South will adhere strictly to the letter of the law. But if the North, at future day, shall see its mistake and, repenting, shall propose to crop out the black features of this Government, we (and we speak for ourselves only) would accept the proposition. What harm would there be in that? If the North made the African voter, it is for her to take the lead in unmaking him if she gets sick of her own physis. But until the popular voice of the North demands this change of the new amendments of the Federal Constitution, we accept them in good faith until their finality is objected to by those that fettered them on us.

SKIPPING ABOUT. From our own Correspondent. BILLIOUS weather. FLEAS, flies, and fishes. HILLSBORO has stylish girls. MILTON has a cat that hunts rabbits. CEDAR GROVE has a good new shoemaker. HILLSBORO has the oldest town clock in America. NEW HOPE in this county has a town of Indian graves. DURHAM has the Sherman-Johnson surrender house. PEA RIDGE, in Caswell, has an owl's nest seventy years old. LEASBURG has 20 walnut trees in a row 100 years old and they all bear. A MINERAL spring near Hillsboro has improved the health of Col. Tom Ruffin. A HOUSE stands near Hillsboro in the porch of which a British sentinel was slain as he walked his post. PROSPECT Hill, in Caswell, has an old half breed Indian woman a hundred years old who is lively and works a steer. A CRAZY negro near Milton has piled up whole acres of woodland in leaves and sticks and tears down the young trees. MR. CARMEL, in Halifax, (Va.), has a no-armed soldier named True who drives with his teeth and rides his wife out in a buggy. He bought a knife the other day to clean his nails with.

It is a three dollar fine to trot a horse over the covered bridge at Milton and if you ride on the sidewalk or blow your nose on the pavement you are gone up.

JOHN LEWIS who has been living out South for the last twenty years has returned with his family to Durhams there to live the balance of his days.

OLD "JUDGE" CASE is a revolutionary soldier that lives near Milton in a little log hut and when he comes to town about once a year gets pretty breezy and sings yankee doodle.

OLD ALFRED JOHNSON who is the negro in Milton that burnt Abe Lincoln in effigy recognized at once the picture of Gen. Polk whom he said he had never seen since he used to hear him preach down in Franklin and he staying along with his old master.

RICHMOND.

We take from the Whig, Dispatch and Enquirer: Major Robert Stiles is a rising young lawyer of the city.

The Rev. Dr. Curry of Richmond has been elected president of Georgetown College.

Fifty-nine whitefolks and eighty-two negroes died in Richmond during last month.

Henry Smith charged with forging a note in Dazer & Bros (Dancy, we reckon) of Tarboro, N. C., for $275 was sent to the penitentiary for two years.

Possely has charge of the chain gang and works them just right. He takes off the ball and chain while they are at work. Possely is man enough to thrash out a whole chain gang, if they bother him—anyway.

DANVILLE.

We take from the Times and Register: The "Paxton" place near Danville has been bought by a Russian named Tsherborsheff at 20 dollars an acre in cash—182 acres.

The Kates store building is for rent. A good chance for a merchant wishing to do a live business.

One of the northern Editors in Danville remarked that if that water power was in his country ten millions of dollars would be expended on it.

W. J. Foulkes is appointed postmaster at Whitlock and E. M. Howerton at Clover depot.

The dwelling of Dr. Patrick and Syd Crews have been neatly "cracked."

Where's Watson?

Geo. W. Wicks, the Tobaccoist of Louisville, Ky., has been several days in Danville.

Francisco manufactures candy and has lately filled an order from Person county.

WILMINGTON.

We take from the Star and Journal: Bishop Miles begins his labors early this month at Wilmington in the organization of a colored Conference.

Three fine water melons have been in market and the huckster realized $5 for each.

A negro girl for attempting to poison the family of Wash Carroll, of Duplin, is now in jail.

RALEIGH.

We take from the Telegram and Era: The Era has dawned. A neatly printed paper. But, got up! with your Locals, Mr. Era. It is Republican in politics.

Harriet Spruill, a negro woman, fainted and was strangled to death in a garden sink.

At the February term 1861 John Rencher, Joshua Sugg, Thomas Jones, William Walton, William Burton and James Jones were appointed by ballot to attend as Jurors at the next Hillsboro Superior Court. Seventy years afterward it is referred to in Telegram.

Master Telegram—I say!—that "Desperate Woman" local—you ought to have credited—you know.

NEWBERN.

We take from the Commerce and Republican:

"The Way of the Transgressor is Hard."

Within five years over twenty men have been killed in this city, who had themselves killed or tried to kill others, and many more of the same sort have been dangerously wounded by persons bent on taking their lives. It is an axiom among veteran policemen that "the killers" most always get killed." If these pests of society did not thus exterminate one another, it might be worse for decent people than it is now. Young men who are tending toward rowdyism should bear these terrible facts in mind. A young man is often deluded into the downward path of ruffianism by the false notion that it is a safe one. The facts prove that such a path is thickly strewn with bloody perils, and that few, if any, live out man's allotted days who travel it. Philadelphia Lenger.

SUICIDE.—Peter Tice, says the Western Sentinel, a citizen of Davidson county, committed suicide last Tuesday by throwing himself under the cog-wheel of the Howard mill on Abbott's creek. The rash deed was premeditated, as we learn he told some of his friends a week previous to his death that he would cease living in a few days, and requested to be buried at High Point. Financial troubles are supposed to have been the cause of his death.

Winning by Sheep-Fluck.

A short time since, according to reports in the Missouri papers, an old trapper, named Anderson Shepard, sixty-five years old, was attacked while in his skin on a stream called Varner's river, in the southeastern part of the State, by three ruffians in another skin. At the first fire the old man's right arm was broken; but, nothing daunted, he levelled his rifle over the edge of his skin with his left-hand, and shot one of his assailants dead. The surviving ruffians then fired at and wounded him in the body, but with his left-hand and teeth he succeeded in reloading his rifle, and shot another of his foes. And finally, after receiving seven wounds, he got his rifle once more loaded, and shot the third and last of his assailants. At last accounts this old hero was still living, though in a critical condition.

A Gipsy Camp in Virginia—Interesting Particulars.

(From the Richmond Whig.) Young Walters of the Whig who is on a tour through the State thus describes a gipsy camp he and some ladies visited near Charlotte Courthouse. It seems our young friend made the trip under moonlight—he and Miss Lucy and others. But they went to get their fortunes told and let us hear how they came out. He says:

As we entered the grove we were saluted by a rush of dogs, who surrounded and closed in upon us with unfriendly demonstrations. The ladies fled frightened to the protecting arms of their escorts, who prepared for a vigorous defence. But the threatened conflict was averted. A herculean Gipsy jumped among the dogs venting inarticulate canine howls as though he blasted them in their own tongue, while with a long riding whip he thrashed right and left, every grade of cur, from the miserable little flea to the fierce hound whose yell wakes the echoes for miles around.

Brusquely he then turned on us and said: "The women tell no fortunes after night, if that's what you've come for."

"Why not?" I enquired.

"I don't know anything about it," the fellow replied, "the women say that luck will turn bad that is foretold by night. That's all I know."

We moved on to where a party of the Gipsies were sitting, or reclining together about the base of a large tree. The men were smoking short pipes, and lying at full length on the ground, while each of the women held in her arms an infant. I had thrown myself down on the ground, in the midst of the Gipsies, and was talking with two of the men—who conversed intelligently, but with many an "expensive" or "when one of our ladies gave a startled scream. Starting up to see what the matter was, I saw a frowsy-looking elfin, of about ten years, executing strange manœuvres with her bare legs, meantime snapping her fingers and ducking her head at Miss Lucy in a grotesque way that frightened that lady well nigh out of her wits. Suddenly

"THE ELFIN CEASED HER ANTICS, and exclaimed, out of breath, 'Oh, goodness, man! give us a quarter—won't you? Can't I dance? I say, man, won't you give us a quarter?' A quarter was handed her, which she took, and then, without any premonition whatever, she began to scream, 'Smith—Smith—Smith, oh Smith!' in a voice pitched so high that one of the women threatened to chastise her if she didn't shut up."

We saw a dark object roll itself out of a pile of straw, on which half a dozen of the Gipsies' dogs were lying, and "Smithy" a fat Gipsy boy of fourteen or fifteen, came slouching up evidently in no good humor. The elfin creature made him one of her fierce gestures, at which the boy began to beat a sort of tune on his fingers and teeth, and the girl went through another of her weird dances.

My companions strolled about the camp, while I remained with the group about the tree. Having chucked one of the dirty little babies under the chin, I was pretty soon on friendly and confidential terms with the women, as well as the men, to the latter of whom I talked horse. I learned a great many interesting things, which I have not time to write now.

It is a fact that these Gipsy women refuse to "tell fortunes" after night, from a superstition that bad luck will be the consequence. Does not this argue that they have faith in their own predictions. For if mercenary motives only governed them, why should it matter whether they practiced their art day or night? The charge for a "fortune" is one dollar; sometimes they will accept less from the negroes, who are their best customers. I enquired whether they did not make a considerable deal of money from the practice of fortune-telling. One of the women answered "no" as was flatly contradicted by an evil looking Gipsyman, who sat opposite to us, and an entire lack of sympathy and mutual trust between the men and women of the band. The men have no confidence in the sooth-saying pretensions of the women, and strange to say they sneer openly when they refer to that practice.

THE AVOCATIONS OF THE WOMEN are fortune-telling and peddling small wares of their handwork. The men are inveterate horse traders. They think nothing, talk nothing, do nothing but have reference to horse flesh. They are born jockeys, and their long experience enables them to detect the minutest flaw in the ensemble of horse, and to estimate properly his every good point. Some of the Halifaxians, I am told, who are over-fond of swapping horses, have lately been badly worsted by the Gipsies. It is not safe to trade with them. Their rule in such transactions is "bad for good—or good for better, an even swap we scorn."

I was shown the stock they now have on hand. It averaged very good. They feed their horses well, work them little and pay them close attention, consequently poor stock will improve rapidly under their care and bring a considerably enhanced price.

The amount of ready money these people have would astonish some. Not one of them but will put up his $500 on a horse race if he is confident of winning. These Gipsies are universally regarded as vagabonds, implying that they live by stealing. This, I think, is a prejudice. It is true the men will cheat you in a horse trade with great gusto, and swear you an infinite number of lies, but I question whether they do not deliberately steal. This land has been near the courthouse village for several days, and they have honestly paid for everything they got. There is but one of the women of this band who realizes the FORTUITAL IDEA OF THE ROVING GIPSY. As I saw her sitting there in the brilliant moonlight, her appearance was truly remarkable. A mass of black hair flowing down her back lay in a pile on the ground. Her eyes were painful to look at, so intensely blue were they and so expressive of a fierce, revengeful nature. She was speaking in a foreign tongue to a man who sat next to her, a fellow of splendid proportions, but rough and wicked countenance. The woman was positively handsome, but her eyes and her beautiful white teeth and the lily whiting of her body to and fro were terrible. She grew excited while she was talking—and suddenly her child, which she held by the arm, cried out in pain as the woman unconsciously closed her grip upon the flesh. In travelling the camp equipage and the women and children are carried in wagons, while the men go on foot or horseback. These Gipsies say that in many places they visit the authorities will order them away. This is done without a question being asked or a reason given. Such treatment is questionable, as these people have a visible means of support.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

We take no more new subscribers without the cash. A bird in the hand is worth at least three in the bush.

Go to Mrs. Owen for your ribbons and lace and gloves and bonnets and straw goods.

"How are you, Pete?" said we to a prisoner in the town jail. "Getting fat," he answered.

Troy keeps the hotel at the Shops and we recommend him for his courtesy.

No matter how corrupt the person of a Judge may be you cannot blackguard him without dragging in the dirt the rich crime of the office. Better to impeach him before the dignity of the Law. Let the High Law drop him like a rotten apple from the tall tree. But do not bend the bough and soil its foliage.

Tobacco for Richmond.
As a good many of our Planters are prizeing Tobacco to send to Richmond, we recommend the Commission Houses advertising in this paper as among the very best that can be found in that City. They are all first-class and got a mint of money. Try them once and you'll try them again.

"Where are we to-day?"
A negro man who has been a wandering idiot from a blow received on the skull while a servant in the Confederate army was the other day subjected to a difficult operation at the hands of a skillful surgeon. His first gleam of intelligence after the result of the operation was as he opened his eyes and said: "We were at Manassas yesterday. Where are we to-day?"

To Preserve Eggs.
An egg can easily be preserved for as long as twelve months at a time. Just simply put them while in a fresh state in lime water. The common whitewash sort of lime. The whole contents of a white-wash pail, with the addition of a sufficient quantity of water, should be put into a wooden tub or firkin holding the eggs. You then have them fresh for a year.

Come! Come! Come!
Come to Hillsboro if you want beautiful scenery and a cool and healthy climate with every body living to a good and ripe old age, with beautiful birds filling the trees with music, with lovely women and accomplished men, with the old "shady walk" by the river's edge, and that mineral spring—just a good before-breakfast walk—which is as effective in its infusorial properties as any watering place in the South. Come along with your families and spend the summer with us. You'll go back home with rosy cheeks and an appetite for eating up a whole market stall. Then, come along.

Where is Dr. Cobb?
An old Mexican soldier of this county who was "look sick" in Mexico—ruptured—and belonged to Col. Paine's "regiment" has applied for a pension and been informed by the Government that it needs the surgeon's certificate. Doctors Cobb and McRae were the surgeons. Where are they? that's what he wants to know. Where is Dr. Cobb? You Cobb: where are you?

The Ox.
I accidentally read the annexed little anecdote which happened in 1789, in relation to that useful animal, the Ox, which I have translated, as I thought that it might be amusing to your readers. You will please excuse the faults I have made, as the English is not my native language.

The Rhine in its rapid course, has formed considerable islands opposite to the village of Miribel, in Bresse, in the department of Laine. Numerous droves of oxen and cows are led to pasture on these islands by children, who cross the river seated between the horns of the oxen.

"One day," relates De Sutures, "taking a walk in that direction, I rested myself on the side of a hill to read. Some children were playing below me; they began to quarrel; from threats, they came to blows, and the weakest began to scream. One of the oxen which was upon one of these islands, raised his head, and after having looked a moment, swam and got to the shore, and came near the weeping child, and after having driven all the other children away, lowered his head so that the child could get upon it, and returned to the island and left him where he had been feeding; after which, he swam again and carried away another child in the same manner. I saw him afterwards go to his pasture."

"Convinced as I was, by many examples, of the gratitude of animals, I soon suspected the cause of this singular fact; but notwithstanding, I resolved to be certain of it. I descended the hill and came near the other children, whom I questioned, and they answered me, that the little child carried away, was the boy who took care of the ox, and that the other was his brother. "Being anxious to enquire of the child himself, I called him, and promised him a reward if he would come. He got on his ox and came to me and said he loved his ox dearly; that they always slept together; that he took good care of him, and often divided his breakfast with him. While speaking to me, he caressed the ox; then speaking to it, he said, 'do not fear, your little beloved will give you a good feeding to night, for having saved him from those who were beating him.' "I then gave him the promised reward, when, pleased with having so much noney, he turned round to the ox, which had been, mean while, very patiently waiting for him, saying, 'here ox, here my dear here is something that will buy you bread for a long time.' A. P.

Turn about is Fair Play.
The right to the Durham brand has been a bone betwixt Mr. Blackwell manufacturer of smoking tobacco at Durham, and a Mr. Wright, a manufacturer at Pittsylvania Court House (Va.) Mr. Blackwell sued Wright for damages. Sometime since Wright caught Blackwell in Virginia and made him give five thousand dollars security for using his brand. Yesterday Blackwell happened in the North Carolina train with Wright coming down from Greensboro' and he telegraphed to the Sheriff to meet him at the depot. Then he had Wright arrested, and he is in town waiting for his lawyer to come back with bail.

MARRIED.
In the Presbyterian church of this town, on Thursday evening last, at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. Dr. Atkinson, of Raleigh, Mr. W. F. BADGETT, (late of Charlotte) Depot Agent on the N. C. R. R. at Hillsboro', to Miss MARIA, youngest daughter of Lem' Lynch, Esq., of this town. The happy pair left on the 11 o'clock train on a Northern tour.

Died of Cancer.
A son of Mr. John Stockard—aged about forty—died of cancer at his home in Alamance county last Monday. The cancer had eaten up the lower portion of his chin.

Plants by Nigars.
An old farmer near Salisbury plants and fences and hauls up his manure by signs. When the sign in the Almanac points down then he goes about his business. His impression is that his whole life is a success.

GOLDSBORO.
A Curious Negro Grave.
[From our own Correspondent.]

A walk in the graveyard at Goldsboro brought me to a grave which was curiously worked up after the fashion of some colored artist. It was a planked square filled up with small white rocks. At the head was a wooden cross painted white and bearing the name, date of birth, and death. At the foot of the cross was a large rock with a broken goblet on it containing a piece of moss. And in each corner of the square was a broken lamp chimney filled with small white pebbles. The artist must have come from the Rocky mountains.

Tilting at Company Shops.
[From a Correspondent.]

The first thing was a man rode over. Then the knights were charged by Mr. Parker.

At two o'clock in the evening the riding commenced. Twenty knights: The distance was 150 yards. The ring was small. They rode five times each. A crowd of lovely women witnessed the tilting.

"From pleading or upbraiding glances Each gallant turns aside, And only thought—"If speeds my lance, A queen becomes my bride!" J. A. Long, of Graham, crowned Miss Teague of that town.

TWO CLOWNS
appeared on the ground in regular circus ring style and added to the humor of the occasion. Several slight sallies were audible. One of their "get offs" was the following:

1st clown—Dyer ever go to Hillsboro? 2nd clown—No, do they burn gas there? 1st clown—Oh yes. 2nd clown—Where do they get it? 1st clown—Oh, they get it out of the Hillsboro Recorder. (Here a baby cried and spoiled it.)

MAJOR SMITH'S SPEECH.
After the riding the knights returned to the Shops and drew up in line in front of Maj. S's residence and gave three rousing cheers for Smith. The Major's response was as short and sweet as a ten cent drink. Said he, "Gentlemen, I invite you all to come in and have something." And the band played.

"We're coming, sister Mary."

THE BALL.
came off at night in the spacious dining room of the Troy hotel. A Raleigh band made the music. A multitude of beautiful women bending back their snowy necks and wiggling the dance in white satin slippers was too much for your correspondent. He leapt into the stream of sparkling joy and became for the nonce a glorious human boy—he danced. He capered; crossed over and crossed his legs; played coquette with the "first lady on the right," and ambled to the "second lady on the left," and next turned his partner with a squat and bow.

THE LADIES.
Our Hillsboro girls were there; but as they only went to witness the tournament they left on the ten o'clock train at night. They formed however a set by themselves before leaving and danced in their traveling apparel—giving a "dash and go" to the appearance of things generally. We heard our ladies complimented as "very stylish." But every lady there was deserving of compliment. We are getting mighty anxious to close this piece—the ladies don't care for any more being said and—we are powerful sleepy. Good night!

ALAMANCE COURT.
Court did little or nothing Tuesday. In the evening was no court. Time was passed in making speeches. Tourgeee who was down below caught particular fits from up above. He was euphuistically called a "sly carpet bagger." Tourgeee couldn't "see it," as he was taking his evening siesta—them. Judge Pearson was then put on for a back log and Judge Kerr roasted him in all the salty satire and peppery invective of his vinegar cruet. Kerr was fully aroused and made a rousing speech. Gov. Graham made a calm, graceful, dignified, and sensible speech, warmly advocating the right of the people to have a convention. Dr. Montgomery was chairman of the meeting. Resolutions were passed naming the first Saturday in July for the sovereigns to meet at Graham to nominate a man.

CONGRESSMAN LEACH.
made the speech of Jimmie Leach. While he talks a plenty of gab he has got a good natural ear for music. Plays altogether on "see sharp." Loud whoops and the clapper of paws are necessary to his political existence. And yet he made several fair minded and commendable points. For instance he warmly urged a convention, not as a party move, but as an act of gentleness of mind of all parties for the good of the State. The man who was not independent enough to rise above the prejudice of party in order to build up his State was unworthy the name of a North Carolinian. As for the objection that President Grant will interfere—or the Supreme Court—or His Excellency Mars Tod Caldwell—God save the State—I think there is little danger, though if such be the case, I tell you what the people ought to do, the men of Alamance, the men of North Carolina must do what is right, must strike for their public liberty. Gen. Grant is but a man—not a great man—a good military man and is running this Government too much on a military line that augurs no good to the country. Let him do it. I dread him no more than I dread a farmer out there 4 miles from Graham. Let the military come. You've got to do but one thing: I appeal to you, in the name of everything, to be quiet and give no offense; do that, gentlemen, and all will be well in the coming future. I am rather inclined to think were a man to strike me I wouldn't strike him back till after the Presidential election. (We have other extracts of a livelier flavor we may give at some other time.)

Rail Road for Sale.

Quite a scene was enacted on the passenger car of the North Carolina Central last night, in the arrest by Capt. Ligon, the Conductor, of the negro brute Gus Byers, who some months ago committed a rape in Charlotte on a little negro infant aged 15 months. The child was dreadfully mangled and the brute, in the terror of his fright, fled the place and has been working ever since in a factory at JAMES TOWN, where he got aboard Tuesday night with a ticket for Greensboro'. When the Conductor went round to collect the tickets, Byers, as he handed him his, turned his face out of the window; but Ligon recognized him, and slapping his hand in his collar said, "You are my prisoner." Calling up Mr. Pegram, Agent of a S. C. Road, who was sitting just a few seats behind the negro, he at the same time beckoned to his train hand, Burgill, to come up, and asked him "if this wasn't the negro that committed the rape in Charlotte?" and Burgill said "yes." The negro then felt behind him for his pistol, but Pegram was too fast for him, and took it out—a five shooter, with four loaded barrels. The negro then rose and tried his best to jump out of the car window. Ligon and he

A STRUGGLING AND SCUFFLING and Pegram whacking him a few flecks with a stick, and Ligon going for him with his fist, while Col. Johnson, President of the Charlotte and Columbia road, was crying out "don't hurt him, boys!"—and then—"a' d— you—you look guilty—you damn scoundrel to treat a little infant child so," (punching him with his fist.) Finally they got a rope around his neck and arms and the negro fell back with a "done gib up" groan "Oh me!" He was taken off at Greensboro and marched up the town to jail. The negroes all in the place were much rejoiced that the scamp was caught—while it is said it would be dangerous for those in Charlotte to even get a glimpse of his face.

The Senior Editor returns thanks to the "Boys" for an invitation to attend their Tournament at Company Shops on the 16th inst. He regrets that sickness will prevent his attendance. The Senior loves Boys—and remembers that he was once a Boy himself. O for his trundle-bed days over again! But alas! alas! Nevertheless, go it Boys, while you're young, and don't any of you sky-lark with Jack Barleycorn.

Mr. Brown, of Warsaw, now writes that he was mistaken in saying that the man found murdered in that County was a tobacco pedler from Orange named Jasper Turner, and that Jasper comes up all right—alive and kicking. It was another man, and Jasper will no doubt feel glad that he hears it. Mr. Turner is down about Warsaw peddling on tobacco, and we wish him a safe return to Old Orange.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. D. T. Clark continues to improve.

ON FRIDAY the big premium sale of tobacco will come off at the Hillsboro Warehouse. We can assure the planters that these premiums will be worth something to those who bring the finest yellow leaf. The Tobacco Trade is composed of gentlemen who will not "half do" things when they venture in an offer of such kind. We would like to see present some of the Danville, Milton, and Richmond markets. Our market is young as yet, but composed of such men as JAMES Y. WHITTIER—a prominent member of the New York National Association—it is destined to flourish into larger dimensions. The prizes offered are: A handsome riding saddle, an elegant bridle, and a genuine merschaum pipe.

C. E. Parish—the worthy young lawyer of this place, advertises "Southern Claims."

SPECIAL NOTICE.

PAIN KILLER
TRADE MARK
1840 1870

The "Pain Killer" may justly be styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and been largely used and highly prized. Moreover there is no ailment to which it has not proved to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is a speedy and safe remedy for lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, and various other injuries; as well as for dysentery, diarrhoea and bowel complaints generally. It is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.

It is a very significant fact that notwithstanding the long period of years that the Pain Killer has been before the world, it has never lost one whit of its popularity, and, on the contrary, the call for it has steadily increased from its first discovery and at no previous time has the demand for it been so great, or the quantity made been so large as it is to-day.

Another significant fact is, that no where has the Pain Killer ever been in higher repute or been more generally used by families and individuals than it has been here at home, where it was first discovered and introduced. That the Pain Killer will continue to be, what we have styled it, the great medicine of the world, there cannot be the shadow of a doubt. Providence Advertiser.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps.
Is initiated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

I beg leave to call the attention of the reader to the following facts in relation to the Schiedam Schnapps:

I feel bound to say that I regard your Schnapps as being in every respect pre-eminently pure and deserving of medical patronage. At all events it is the purest possible article of Holland (Gin here) and is unadulterated, and as such may be safely prescribed by physicians. D. L. MITCHELL, M.D., Pharmaceutical Chemist, N. Y.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 1. I feel that we have not an article of gin suitable for such cases as fast remedy is adapted to. Dr. J. W. H. BARNUM, "Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, etc.

I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to the efficacy of a medicinal agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient servant. C. A. LEAF, M.D., N. Y.

26 FINE TRAIL, N. Y., Nov. 21, 1867.—Edolphe Wolfe, Esq., presents: Dear Sir, I have had a chemical examination of a sample of your Schiedam Schnapps, with the intent of determining if any foreign or impure substance had been added to the simple distilled spirit.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful adulterant. I have been unable to discover any trace of the various poisonous substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the Schiedam Schnapps as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin. Respectfully yours, CHAS. A. SEELY, chemist.

Chemical and Technical Laboratory, is Exchange Place, New York, Nov. 25, 1867.—L. Watson, Esq., Dear Sir: The undersigned has carefully and thoroughly analyzed a sample of your "Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps," selected by yourselves, and have found the same free from all organic or inorganic substances, pure or less injurious to health. From the result of our examination we consider the article one of superior quality, healthy as a beverage, and effective in its medicinal qualities. Respectfully, ALEX. TRIPPLE, Chemist.

A MARKED CURSE.

Young man, if ever inclined you be
To enter the portals of matrimony,
Do marry how you go through it!

If I ask my wife not to fret and fuss,
She only replies, 'You're no-cus, you're no-cus.'
You're no-cus, you're no-cus, you're no-cus!

No matter how tidy she once may have been,
If madame think slovenliness is no sin—
And plenty of women so view it—
The more you complain and kick up a fuss,
The worse she will be, till you're really no-cus.

You're no-cus, you're no-cus, you're no-cus!
So I say, young man, take warning in time,
Look well to the lesson contained in my rhyme.

Or twenty to one you will rue it!
If once you submit, 'twill be always thus;
So, in getting a wife, pray don't get a no-cus—
Get no-cus, get no-cus, get no-cus!

The prettier the feet and ankles, the easier they get up stairs.

Why is a good husband like dough?
Doughn't you know? Why, it's because a woman needs him.

Johnny, what do you expect to do for a living when you get to be a man?—Well, I reckon I'll get married and board with my wife's pa.

There is a young lady in Camden studying Latin. She has a beau. He asked her what she meant by transit gloria mundi. She translated it: 'Come and see me on Monday.'

'Are the jury agreed?' asked the judge of a court attaché whom he met on the stairs with a bucket in his hand. 'Yes,' replied Patrick, 'they have agreed to send out for half gallon.'

'Johnny,' said one of the boys to a bereaved friend who had just lost his father,
'yer behaved well at the funeral.' 'Oh, jesus!' replied Johnny, with the air of one whose merits were only half recognized,
'you should have seen me at the grave.'

The Connecticut mind takes to economy very naturally. An old lady living in the Nutmeg State has tabooed candles and taken to gas on this ground: She says gas is hardly half a cent a foot while candles are five cents a foot.

A Yankee was walking with an Irishman on the road to New York, and thinking to roast his companion, said to him:
'Where would you be now, Paddy, if the devil had his due?' 'Faith,' replied Paddy,
'I'd be walking by myself to New York.'

The writer of an obituary notice of an estimable lady, said that the bereaved husband was 'hardly able to bear the demise of his wife.' Imagine his disgust on reading in print that the bereaved husband was 'hardly able to wear the chemise of his wife.'

Montaigne said prettily, when he inquires the reason why the word of the lie should be such a disgrace, and such an odious charge? Faith he: 'If it be well weighed, to say that a man lieth, it is as much to say, as that he is brave towards God, and a coward towards men.'

A local report of the period: 'Mr.
Collins of Hartford bought a ferocious watch dog. Mr. Collins came home late that night. His wife says that his trousers can't be mended. The dog's skin is for sale cheap. Mr. Collins hopes to be able to skin down in a few weeks.'

The latest feminine exploit is that of Agnes Lewis, in California. She is only sixteen years old, and has ploughed one hundred and eighty acres of land, one way, and six sweethearts a half dozen ways. She is a sister of the Ida Lewis that they called the Good Darling of New England, and is determined to do justice to her pedigree
if she has to trot in 2:15 to harness.

—A Fairfield County (Conn.) man, who 'figures pretty close,' feigned sickness the other day, when his wife was to be buried, in order to save his car-fare, as she was to be taken to a distant place; but when it was found necessary to take a rope to hold the coffin in the wagon, as it was taken to the depot, he appeared and put in a request that said rope should be returned,
as 'it was handy to tie up the calf.'

A San Francisco school teacher received the following note from the 'ostensible' parent of one of his pupils: 'I hope, as to my John, you will flog him just as often as you kin. He's a bad boy—is John.
Altho' I've bin in the habit of teaching him myself, it seems to me he will never learn anything—his spellin' is outrageously deficient. Wallopin' well, ser, and you will receive my thanks.'

Pontonella, at the age of twenty-seven,
after having many able and gallant things to the young and beautiful Madame Helvetius, passed her once without perceiving her.

'See,' said she, stopping and addressing him, 'how I ought to value your gallan-tries! You pass me without even looking at me!'

'Madame,' said the old man, 'if I had looked at you, I could not have passed.'

Etc., etc., etc.

We respectfully invite the attention of merchants and others to our stock, which is large and complete, embracing every article in our line of business.

Our long experience has made us well acquainted with the wants of the trade, and we confidently invite an examination of our goods and prices, determined to sell as low as the same goods can be purchased elsewhere.

Every article sold by us is guaranteed as represented to the purchaser.

We keep a very large stock, and sell very low for cash, or to punctual customers.

prompt and faithful attention given to orders.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Please take notice that I opened on
SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1871,
A NEW CLOTHING HOUSE,
IN THE
NEW BUILDING,
No. 1102 MAIN STREET,
opposite the FIRST NATIONAL BANK, where I will be prepared to furnish my patrons from an entirely new stock of
NEW GOODS AND NEW STYLES
IN CLOTHING,
(all purchased this season)
FOR MEN'S, YOUTH'S, AND BOYS' WEAR.
For superior
QUALITY,
STYLE, and PRICE,
anything of the kind since the war, I invite the public generally to an inspection of the same.

W. M. IRVING,
(and late T. S. Baldwin),
1102 MAIN STREET.

To Country Merchants.

—DON'T BE HUMBLED!—
IF YOU WANT
CONFECTIONERIES
Buy them of the oldest established House,
LOUIS J. BOSSIERE,
112 Main Street, RICHMOND, VA.

Five doors below Wm. B. Lusk & Co., Bankers, a house of twenty-five years standing, and only original manufacture of the Immitable.

Double refined Steam candy. We make the Wholesale business a specialty, and give the manufacture of candies our special attention; and are making an article of clarified floss candies superior to anything made for Wholesale in these United States.

April, 19.—1871.
